

[Rasmus B. Anderson]

[Gregg Montgomery]

Jan. 23, 1936

Rasmus B. Anderson.

516 N. Carroll St.

Fairchild 467

Born - Jan. 12, 1846, Albion, Wis.

Mr. Anderson's parents came from Stavanger., on the west coast of Norway, in 1836.

His father was a farmer but also owned a ship and traded along th coast. Personal history

-

Mr. Anderson is internationally known as an author and educator. He attended Luther College in Iowa, and the University of Wis. He founded the Norse dept. at the University of Wisconsin and was prof. of Scandinavian language and literature there. Minister to Denmark during Pres. Cleveland's first administration. Was editor and publisher of "America", a Norwegian weekly issued at Madison.

Is author of "Norse Mythology". "Viking Tales from the North" and "The Young Edda".
REPRODUCED FROM THE COLLECTIONS OF THE MANUSCRIPT DIVISION,
LIBRARY OF CONGRESS

RasmusB. Anderson

Library of Congress

316 North Carroll Street

Fairchild 467

I. NORWEGIAN

Gregg Montgomery

January 23, 1936 PERSONAL HISTORY

Mr. Anderson was born January 12, 1846 in Albion, Wisconsin. His parent came from Stavanger on the west coast of Norway in 1836. His father was a farmer but also owned a ship and traded along the coast. Mr. Anderson is internationally known as an author and educator. He attended Luther College in Iowa and the University of Wisconsin. He [founded?] the Norse department at the University of Wisconsin and was professor of Scandinavian language and literature there. During President Cleveland's first administration he was Minister to Denmark and he was editor and publisher of "America", a Norwegian weekly issued at Madison. He is the author of "Norse Mythology", "Viking Tales from the North" and "The Young Edda". REPRODUCED FROM THE COLLECTIONS OF THE MANUSCRIPT DIVISION, LIBRARY OF CONGRESS